RE: EBA UPDATE 26th JUNE

Friday/Saturday Meetings

Members involved in work stoppages over these days in Perth, Avalon, Adelaide and Darwin will be leaving work to attend meetings. Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane stoppages do not involve meetings.

At this stage the Avalon venue will be the Lara Hotel, members should leave work at the designated time and the meeting will start shortly after 0900 when the hotel opens. All Qantas ALAEA LAME members at all levels up to and including check co-ordinator are directed to leave the workplace at 0800. Handovers should commence well before this time.

Other venues are being arranged by local delegates who will advise members on the day.

EBA Meeting Next Monday

Qantas, the ACTU and the ALAEA will be meeting at 10.00 Monday with a view to move towards settlement of our EBA dispute. As a result we have withheld notification of further work stoppages. If no progress is made the earliest day for further stoppages would be Friday the 4th of July.

Borosopes Sydney

There has been some confusion in the last couple of days regarding the boro section and whether it is part of Base Maintenance. For the purpose of ALAEA PIA, boro's is included as part of Base. That being said, I understand that this Friday's stoppage would cut across 2 crews and leave members out of pocket 4 hours pay and not having the advantage of 4 hours absence. For this reason the ALAEA is cancelling Friday's stoppage for Sydney boroscope members and it will be rescheduled to a more appropriate time if required.
