RE: EAA EBA

The ALAEA met yesterday with the company regarding a new EBA. It was the third meeting held and gave both parties the opportunity to respond to each other's Log of Claims.

The Company in its claim has proposed three items, one of which includes a proposal for a training bond.

A copy of our claim may be found on the ALAEA Notice Board and is also available from Eastern Representatives, Greg Cooper and Lee Rushworth.

Yesterdays meeting gave both parties the opportunity to discuss their claims at length, however at this time we have not reached agreement on any items. The Company for its part has indicated a willingness to move forward expeditiously but it would seem the usual constraints are being bantered and the end of the world as we know it may be close at hand.

The ALAEA is determined to deliver an outcome that recognises the hard work and achievements that EAA Engineers deliver day in, day out. I encourage you all to support your ALAEA negotiating team and in particular Greg and Lee. Only with your full support can we can deliver an honest, fair EBA result.
